

In the recent months, many Americans have been outraged over the amount of filth on the T.V. One should not be required to pay for something they find utterly offensive. I am among many who believe that the subscribers of any form of cable should have the option to obtain the channels they deem appropriate. A non-smoker is not required to pay for the tobacco tax since he does not smoke and neither should a cable subscriber have to pay for channels they do not agree with weither in content or conviction.

Please consider my request.
